

APPENDIX A

```
install package needed for inv function
if (!require('matlib')) install.packages('matlib')

define newfunction to compute DOCR
newfunction <- function (data, ...)
{
  DOCR <- NULL
  # compute full data covariance matrix
  cov0 <- cov(data,...) DOCR <- sapply(1:nrow(data), function(i) { # compute delete one covariance matrix
    covi <- cov(data[-i, ], ...)
    # compute standardized residuals
    stdizd.res <- (cov0 - covi) %*% matlib::inv(cov0)
    # eliminate duplicate entries above main diagonal stdizd.res[upper.tri(stdizd.res)] <- 0
    # vectorize the stdizd residuals
    vec.res <- as.vector(stdizd.res)
    # sum of squared stdizd residuals
    SS.res <- t(vec.res) %*% vec.res
    # divide by number of elements in cov matrix, multiply 1000
    nu <- nrow(cov0)
    p <- nu*(nu+1)/2 (SS.res/p)*1000})
  return(DOCR)}
install package needed for PDII data and generalized Cook's distance
if (!require('influence.SEM')) install.packages('influence.SEM'); library(influence.SEM)
data(PDII)
calculate DOCR
```

```
DOCR<- newfunction(PDII)
calculate mahalanobis distance
MD <- mahalanobis(PDII, colMeans(PDII), cov(PDII))
The following example is from the influence.SEM documentation (Pastore & Altoe', 2022)
citation('influence.SEM')
define model needed for generalized Cook's distance
model <- "
F1 =~ x1+x2+x3
F2 =~ y1+y2+y3+y4
F3 =~ y5+y6+y7+y8"
calculate generalized Cook's distance
gCD <- influence.SEM::genCookDist(model,data=PDII,std.lv=TRUE) extract <- influence.SEM::explore.influence(gCD,cook=TRUE) extract
```