

Figure S3: Comparison of cambial kinetics between individual sampling microsites. Graphs show the increasing proportion of differentiating tracheids (enlarging+wall-thickening+mature) for individual sampling dates standardized by the final number of cells formed at the end of the calendar year. Differences between microsites are non-significant for all sampling dates (n=165)